Landscape Media II

CRN 22995 - Tuesday Thursday 12-1:20m Zoom

Instructor: Ian Escher Vierck, iev@uoregon.edu

“It is not how much empty space there is, but rather how it is used. It is not how much information there is, but rather how effectively it is arranged.”

— Edward Tufte

Landscape Media II is the continuation of a yearlong media sequence and will focus on the core landscape architecture drawings. Media fundamentals such as hierarchy, graphic design, and color theory will be introduced alongside the technical aspects of the Adobe Suite.

The course will emphasize synthesis, workflows, and diagnostics across platforms, with links to instructional tutorials made available online. Modules will include: rendered sections, site plans, context maps, poster layout, and photo montage/ collage.

This class is required for both graduate and undergraduate landscape architecture students.

Pre-requisites: Landscape Media I (LA 451/551)
